Bronze Star Medal

Is Awarded To Judson Rector
Howard, GM3c of
Rockland

Judson Rector Howard, GM3c
U.S.N.R.

Judson Rector Howard, 21, Gunner's mate, third class, U. S. Naval Reserve, son of Mrs. Flora F. DeLong of 42 South Main street, Rockland, is aboard a 2100-ton destroyer now back in action after undergoing repairs for damage received in the Battle of Surigao Strait.

The night she was damaged she assisted in the sinking of a Puso class Japanese battleship, scoring hits with torpedoes.

The ship was commissioned Nov. 24, 1943. She played an inshore role in landing operations at Hollandia, New Guinea; Saipan and Tinian, in the Marianas; at Palau; and at Leyte in the Philippines.

For her accuracy at Saipan and Tinian, she won the nickname of "Sniper Ship."

GM3c Howard has been awarded the Bronze Star Medal, Mrs. DeLong, his mother, having received following communication, signed by T. C. Kincaid, Vice Admiral, U. S. Navy, Commander Seventh Fleet:

"By virtue of the power delegated to me, I take pleasure in awarding, in the name of the President of the United States, the Bronze Star Medal to: Judson Rector Howard, Gunner's Mate, Third Class, U. S. Naval Reserve. Citation: For distinguishing himself by meritorious conduct . . . during action against an enemy task force . . . When that vessel was repeatedly hit and put out of action by enemy shellfire, he made his way down into the steam-filled forward fire room and rendered immediate assistance in removing a number of his burned and wounded shipmates."

CYCLONE STRUCK VINALHAVEN

Rockland High Makes Schoolboy Record With 22 Runs in a Single Inning

Rockland High run wild over Vinalhaven last Friday collecting both ends of a double header 37-7 and 13-2.

In the first game, Vinalhaven's only inning in which they really showed punch was the seventh and last when the visitors collected four runs on four hits. Meanwhile Rockland was giving Vinalhaven a hot time, especially in the fourth inning when it put across 22 runs on 19 hits which is believed to be a new schoolboy record for runs in one inning.

Most of Rockland's players were having a field day at the plate, but the outstanding hitters were McLellan with three singles, a double and two triples, and Holden who hit for the cycle, hitting a single, 2 doubles, a triple, and a home run.

McLellan went the route pitching for Rockland with Flint holding him up, while for Vinalhaven it was Winslow and Morton. While sliding into home headfirst in the first game Donnie Marsh injured one of his hands.

The second game was a much slower affair but was Rockland's all the way with Batty doing a swell job of pitching. Rockland suffered its second injury in this game when McLellan injured his ankle.

Pitcher Greenleaf had much on the ball in Newcastle Friday, and Boothbay Harbor found Lincoln Academy not too difficult. Doubles by H. Pierce and McLoughlin were important factors on the victory.

IMPRESSIVE MEMORIAL SERVICE

Will Be Held in Rockland Tomorrow—Parade
On Oldtime Basis

Eleventh hour arrangements have been completed for Rockland's observance of Memorial Day, and those who witness the parade and attend the exercises on the Grand Army premises will agree that the Legionnaires and others have done a fine piece of planning at short notice.

Austin P. Brewer, a past commander of Winslow-Holbrook Post, American Legion, who has been appointed marshal of the Memorial Day parade, has issued the following orders:

All organizations participating in the parade are to report at Grand Army Hall, Limerock street, at 1 o'clock Wednesday. The parade will start at 1:30.

Right of line will form on Union street, opposite the Methodist Church, extending North on Union street, and down Limerock street.

The second division, consisting of the Rockland High School Band; Red Jacket Troop of Sea Scouts; Boy Scouts; Girl Scouts and school children, will form on School street, with right of line resting on Union street.

Rockland City Fire Department will form on Spring street, with right of line resting on Union street.

The parade will move thus: Over Union to Park street; down Park to Main; north on Main, halting opposite the Elks Home, where flowers will be cast on the waters, volley by firing squad and taps for those buried at sea.

The parade will then continue north on Main street to the Ralph R. Ulmer Park, where services will be conducted by the Spanish War Veterans and Auxiliary. The parade will then proceed north on Main street to Cottage street, up Cottage to North Main, down North Main to Main, south on Main street to Limerock street, west on Limerock street to Grand Army Hall, where exercises will be held.

Marshal Brewer requests that all organizations be formed in their respective positions no later than 1 o'clock, as the parade will move promptly at 1:30. It is requested that all flags be displayed Memorial Day at half staff until noon, then to full staff. All service men or women on leave, or otherwise available, in this community, are invited to parade with the Winslow-Holbrook Post, American Legion.

The Black Cat

(By The Roving Reporter)

Ambidextrous is a 60-cent word which may be fairly applied to Rockland's overseer of the poor, J. N. Southard. When a bull ran amok at the City Farm the other day, Lewis Goodall, the manager stepped into a gully in pursuit of the animal and a dislocated left knee resulted. Then arose the problem of who was going to operate the City Farm truck. And into this breach stepped the versatile Josh. And did the occasion demand it he would cheerfully become the man with the hoe.

A motor trip with Riley Strout, through the southern section of Knox County, Saturday, gave me an opportunity to see that section at its best so far as "the great outdoors" is concerned. We found a State crew tarring the Owl's Head road, which, some readers may be surprised to learn, is now one of the finest sections of highway in this part of the State. It was a pleasure to ride over it, even with the gravel freshly applied.

Ye Anchor Inn at Owl's Head opens for the season June 10. Rockledge is receiving many applications for rooms, and the somewhat disturbed proprietress is again pondering the help situation.

Seated in his office at the Rockland Savings Bank the other day, President Frank W. Fuller espied a pretty little Miss, about knee high, at the counter, and waved a friendly greeting. Much to his surprise the little girl returned the greeting with a smart military salute. "I'll bet her father is in the Army," quoth President Fuller. And he was right.

Members of the Rockland Garden Club, and everybody else for that matter, would find it well worth their while to visit the flower gardens which surround the cozy residence of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hamlin on Gay street. I dropped in for a few moments Friday and found a surprising number of plants of a kind I had never seen before. When in full bloom the gardens are going to be very pleasing to the eye. And in the back yard I found the man of the house building one of those boats for which he has become quite famous. Flower gardens are all right, he thinks, but he compromises on a vegetable garden which is up and doing.

YOUR FAVORITE POEM
FOR THOSE WHO FELL
They are not dead, the soldiers fallen here;
Their spirits walk throughout the world today;
They still proclaim their message far and near:
Might is not right, the truth must have its way!
The cold, damp, soil cannot these heroes hide—
Those knightly lads who did not fear to die.
That liberty and freedom still might bid;
Weep not for them, though here they lowly lie.
Go forth and tell their message to the world;
In vain their fight, in vain the foe withstood,
Unless above all kingdoms be unfurled
The pure white flag of love and brotherhood.

Book Review

"Three Years In the Maine Woods." Author, Helen Hamlin. Published by the W. W. Norton Company, New York.

The title of this story is "Nine Mile Bridge," and the charmingly natural and honest story told by Helen Hamlin in Maine life to the core. She was born at Port Kent, one of the outpost towns of the great Aroostook, and lived there until she was 20, but spent her summers at her grandfather's camp on Cross Lake, where she explored to her heart's desire, and attended Madawaska Training School for teachers.

The utter honesty of this book is reflected on her remark, "I do not believe in telling tall tales to green-horns." Nine Mile Bridge is a vivid and personal record of her three years of married life in the woods near a lumber camp settlement among French-Canadian activity in timberland area. "Nine Mile Bridge" comes straight from the pine-scented forests of Maine in complete integrity and honest story of living next to nature.

Helen Hamlin's grandfather and her uncle were State Game Wardens, as was also her husband. This story has an honest relation to primitive nature, refreshing as she tells us, "We were healthy, thus we were rich." You will feel the woods and then beauty as you read.

Kathleen S. Fuller.

"Wild Orchard." Author, Isabel Dick. Published by Thomas Y. Crowell Company, New York.

This is what might be called a "Down Under," a novel of a man and his bride who built a future for themselves on the island of Tasmania in 1840. This period was not conducive to an easy life or smooth going for a bride equipped with little knowledge of what was before her, however she loved her husband and went with him in spite of her clergyman's family objections. They had some bitter experiences in this wild land, with ex-convents for service. Both men and women servants were of the wild life.

Harriet and Jan were equal to all the hardships and brave in their determination to win success and eventually this wild country was subdued into a tame and livable homeland for them showing that courage will win. A good and well told tale.

ANOTHER MEMORIAL DAY

May 8, 1945
So this is V-E Day—long waited for—a formal statement marks the end of war. In Europe—flags of freedom float again. Proclaiming there the spirit of free men.

The guns will bloom, salute the bells will ring. Men's hearts be filled with joy and children sing. They breathe fresh air again as once they did—Before the clouds of war all bright-ness hid. The Tyrant's power is broken—and its men Thrown down to earth shall never rise again—Shall never rise to scourge this world with war. But held in check by Military Law! Now to the loved ones who have given all—To bring about a Tyrant Monster's fall; With hearts rejoicing in our Nation's pride. Let's bow our heads for those who fought and died—And sacrificed their lives on foreign soil. With tears and blood and never ending toll: That those who still remain may work for peace. And vow this purpose high shall never cease!

[EDITORIAL]

IT MAY BE ONLY A RUMOR

It has bobbed up again—the somewhat frequent rumor that Representative Margaret Chase Smith will have opposition in the June primaries a year hence. This time the rumorists appear to have settled upon Secretary of State Harold I. Goss as the candidate to succeed Mrs. Smith, and the backers of the movement aver that he will have the support of prominent Kennebec County leaders. Mebbe so. There can be no denial of the fact that there are not a few voters who believe and honestly, that the district should have a masculine Representative, and that there were others who viewed Mrs. Smith's first selection with a bit of skepticism—shall we say alarm. But the disturbed ones failed to take into account that Mrs. Smith had worked closely with her husband, who preceded her as the Second District's Representative and that she was already familiar with Congressional details before she took her husband's seat in Washington. Had she been content to rest upon her late husband's laurels that would have been one thing. But she has been one of the most persistent and indefatigable workers in Congress, almost immediately finding her way into important committees and making good on all of them, as her "opponents" must admit. That she has ever been derelict in her duty or inattentive to the wants of her constituents is something which we must be shown. Her continuance in Congress is nowise dependent upon her charming personality; it rests with her valuable services.

AGAIN HONORING THE DEAD

Tomorrow is Memorial Day, or "Decoration Day" as we used to know it when the anniversary related almost wholly to the honoring of the Civil War dead. That conflict is now confined wholly to history's pages, for no longer are there "comrades" to play their honored role in the annual observance. The necrology lists, read on each Memorial Day, now pertain to those who made the supreme sacrifice in the Spanish-American War, World War I and the World War which we so fervently hope will have run its course before the advent of another Memorial Day.

UNCLE SAM'S MIGHTY NAVY

If the Japs don't think we mean business they have only to give heed to the latest Naval report which shows that the United States alone boasts the greatest fleet in the world's history, but has under construction 19,882 more ships heading toward that country. Since Pearl Harbor 100,000 ships have joined the fleet, including 1150 combat craft. There is every reason to believe that Japan already acknowledges Uncle Sam's Naval supremacy, as nothing else could explain the apparent intention of the Nipponese rats to remain in seclusion.

DID NOT MAKE A "GRAND EXIT"

Joseph Goebbels also died, either by their own hands or by their own orders. None of them apparently made a grand exit. All started themselves toward their Nazi Valhalla without benefit of Valkyrie on the backdrop or even a Wagnerian dirge. Here is obvious poetic justice which needs no elaboration.

But the fact that these high Nazis have eliminated themselves and have had to do so without dramatics is of considerable significance. It is the best evidence we have so far of the real and total collapse of Nazism. Had these men seen any hope of their weird network of Stormtroopers, Werewolves and gaudieries holding together, any hope of the German people further identifying Nazism with the Fatherland, they both would have and could have gone underground and fought on. But the gruesome and fantastic structure seems now to have disintegrated and fallen apart behind the screen of its pretentious facade sooner and more completely than anyone on the outside dared expect.

It means, in consequence, that the occupying forces will have much less terrorism to combat than had been feared. In fact, there is very little of it now. That when capable German non-Nazis and anti-Nazis are found—and proved—they will be more willing to undertake the administration and regeneration of their country. It means—and here is a sign of warning, too—that should a German resistance movement later develop, it will be a movement from some force other than discredited Nazism. This force might also be dangerous. It might be pre-Hitler militarism. But, for the present, there are problems enough before those who must at the same time put the German people on their feet and render them harmless. So any news that tells us Nazism is leader than we thought is good news indeed. —Christian Science Monitor.

"I wish to extend my personal congratulations and my heartfelt appreciation to every one of you for the magnificent job you have done," Gen. Doolittle said in a message to all personnel. "Each of you," he continued, "may be proud of your part in the defeat of Germany. I am proud of you. The world is proud of you."

The Eighth Air Force was the world's mightiest strategic bombing force. Its personnel of 185,000 was the equivalent of 12 infantry divisions, and it could send 21,000 airmen in 2000 four-engine bombers and 1000 fighters over Germany, at one time a combat effort possible only through the support of tens of thousands of non-flying specialists.

Since August, 1942, when combat operations began, Flying Fortresses and Liberators of the Eighth dropped more than 700,000 tons of bombs on enemy targets. Fighter pilots shot down 5250 Nazi planes and destroyed 4239 others on the ground. Bomber gunners shot 6900 German interceptors out of the air.

HIGH SCHOOL HIGHLIGHTS

A unique and interesting Fashion Revue was given at Tuesday's Senior High Assembly, by Miss Taylor's Home Economics classes, with Leatrice Nutt as general chairman. In the first half of the program, the girls modeled the clothes which they have made this year. This included a group showing the favorite dirndl skirts, in plain and figured materials, some from grain bags worn by Phyllis Shute, Bernice Mitchell, Patricia Wellman, Amy Rackliff, Connie Barton, Betty Nute, Mary Iivonen, Joyce Wotton, Emily Molloy, Beverly Gerrish, Joan Proctor, and Cynthia Tibbetts. They sang "My Dreams Are Getting Better All The Time." Then followed a "Cotton Clothes Parade" with Elsiea Kinney wearing a princess style striped chambray; Mary Gustin, a two-piece suit; Marianna Gustin, a printed gingham; and Betty Nute, an apron which once was a grain bag.

Sophomore girls wearing wool skirts, which were green pleated, or gathered, were Marion Blake, Mary Gustin, Madelyn Hoffes, Lucille Holbrook, Ruth Hutchinson, Alice Ingerson, Gloria Jonasson, Elsiea Kinney, Leatrice Nutt and Ava Wiggins. This group sang "Candy."

A wool bolero and skirt ensemble was worn by Marianna Gustin, and a two-piece outfit by Ava Wiggins. A taffeta skirt of red and white check trimmed with white lace from an old-fashioned dress was modeled by Peggy Packard. A tap dance was given by Virginia Chapman, wearing a black and white taffeta skirt.

The last half of the program was the modeling of ready-made garments in a skit "Around the Clock." These consisted of a housecoat worn by Mary Iivonen; school dress by June Barton; slacks suit by Lorraine Tott; afternoon dresses by Lucy McLaughlin and Joyce Wotton; suit and accessories by Barbara Luffkin, Rosemarie Goodman, and Gayle Rogers; peach, aqua, blue, and pink evening gowns by Nathalie Nash, Betty Nute, Connie Barton, and Joyce Wotton. Cynthia Tibbetts concluded the program wearing her aunt's costume of 1838, with a tap dance and song.

The 8th Grade civic classes in Miss Hughes' room have recently completed posters on "Citizenship." Some of these presented ideas of the duties, rights and privileges of a citizen, while others gave evidence of how good citizenship could be shown in the school, the home, State or nation. Each class voted for the six best posters made by its group. The winners were 8-1 class, Evelyn Perry, Elizabeth Crozier, Lois Tootill, Marilyn Dudley, Thelma Alley and Richard Harper; 8-2, Joan Edwards, Barbara Goldsmith, John Benson, Kenneth Nelson, Dorothy Curtis and Ernest Hollowell; 8-3, William Hodgkins, Charles McLain, Nicholas Kokinis, Louis Ulmer, Margaret Wallace and Elizabeth Moore; 8-4, Domenick Murgita, Talbot Dorr, Fred Thompson, Maynard Stanley, Walter Dyer and Warren Perry. Nicholas Kokinis' poster of the American Flag and the picture of General Douglas MacArthur drawn freehand was judged the best of the twenty-four posters.

Chain Letter: Beware

Designed To Distribute War Savings Stamps—Held To Be Lottery

A new and fraudulent "chain letter" scheme has been disclosed to be operating in New England. Apparently it is a revival of the chain letter racket that formerly involved transmission of coins, but which now plays upon the patriotic needs of the country for the sale of War Savings Stamps.

Tennyson Jefferson, Post Office Inspector in Charge of the New England Division states that these "chain letters" are violations of Sections 601 and 2350, Postal Laws and Regulations of 1940, since they are designed for the distribution of a thing of value, i. e. War Savings Stamps; they are held to embrace the elements of a lottery, and also to be fraudulent.

Mr. Jefferson further added that recipients of these War Savings Stamp chain letters are informed that the movement meets with the approval of the War Finance Committee and the Post Office Department. These statements are false. Neither the Post Office Department nor the War Finance Committee of the Treasury Department has, at any time, sanctioned the chain letter promotion of War Savings Stamps. The public are urged not to participate in these unlawful schemes which invariably are not sponsored by any patriotic motive.

GRANGE CORNER

News items from all of the Features of Husbandry are welcomed here.

Weymouth Grange of Thomaston will hold its Circle Meeting Thursday at Grange hall. The dinner committee is Mrs. Ruby Allen, Mrs. Mary Fales and Mrs. Nettie Robinson.

James Dornan, deputy, in behalf of White Oak Grange, presented a gift to Mr. Babb. Supper was served. A memorial service for the deceased members of the past year, Mrs. Fannie Tarr, Mrs. Florence Moody, Edwin S. Carroll, and President Roosevelt, was impressively carried out under the direction of the lecturer, Mrs. Ruth Wiley, and consisted of a candle march, the placing of flowers at the altar by the chaplain, Mrs. Bertha Perry, assisted by Mrs. Willis Moody, who read the names of the deceased, the singing of "The Old Rugged Cross" by Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Barbour.

The first and second degrees will be conferred on a class of five candidates Friday.

The final meeting of the year of the National Thespian Society will be held at the Rockland High School tonight at 7:30.

Mrs. Frances Harmon of 117 Park street, Rockland, received a telegram from the Secretary of War, May 26, advising that her son, Pvt. Linwood F. Harmon attended Rockland High School and entered service in October, 1943, going overseas in March, 1944.

"The Cauldron" Is Out

Rockland High School's Year Book Is an Admirable Magazine

The High School "Cauldron" published annually by the students of Rockland High School, has made its appearance and between the handsome covers, done in maroon and white, is found a great quantity of entertaining school matters. The edition is dedicated to "our teacher and friend E. Christine Norwood."

The Cauldron carries an excellent editorial section, contributors to which were Albert Havenner, Wendell Webber, Joan Abbott, Vance Norton, Margaret Jackson and Betty Hempstead. Literary offerings of a highly creditable nature were made by Wendell Webber, Betty Hempstead, Edith Carr, Barbara Dyer, Elaine Glendinning, Janet Smith. The poetry department had but three contributors—Jack Gallano, Barbara Dyer and J. Hattesen.

The history of the Class of '45 is well told by Muriel L. Adams.

Eighteen pages are required for the pictures of the members of the graduating class.

Twenty students of Rockland High School are in the service. Three—Philip French, Knott Rankin and Russell Smith have made the supreme sacrifice.

Much ingenuity was required by the class prophet Aimee Karl.

There were numerous callers at the Narragansett Hotel Saturday, and Manager Jack Kingsley was kept busy acknowledging felicitations. A report of the improvements undergone since Nathan Berliawsky became proprietor of the hostelry has already appeared in this paper, but mere words cannot convey the effect of the renovations. Proprietor Berliawsky has expended money with a free hand, and the old Narragansett has given way to an establishment which has for its motto cleanliness and coziness. This is reflected on all three floors of the hotel, as well as in the new dining room and grill. The proprietor, manager and city itself have every reason to feel pride in this modernized establishment.

Dr. Squire Discusses Matter Of Juvenile Delinquency and How Much Of It Could Be Prevented

Dr. Amos O. Squire of Ossining, N. Y., guest of Alan L. Bird, was speaker at the Rotary meeting Friday. His topic was "Rotary and You," the principal subject discussed being juvenile delinquency and jury service.

He said, at the outset of his talk, delivered in a quiet and convincing manner, that since January of this year 179 new Rotary Clubs had been organized and that, if it were possible, the prison at Sing Sing could have a "grand Rotary Club" for he had found on investigation that some 420 classifications were represented at Sing Sing, including doctors, lawyers and even ministers.

Declaring that the cost of juvenile delinquency in this country was between 12 and 13 billion dollars annually, he said that he felt much of this could be prevented if the parents would only look after their children, as parents should. "You only make a bad boy worse when you send him to prison," Dr. Squire stated. He praised a probation system carried out in Westchester County, N. Y., imparting the information that 92 percent of probationers made good.

Dr. Squire called for Rotarians to offer their services on juries, and not have their names withheld from the jury list. Mentioning the boy scout movement, he stated forcibly, "The boy scouts are the hope of the future." He was introduced by his host, Mr. Bird.

Dg Squire, who organized the Rotary Club at Ossining, and who was its first president, has attended 22 of the international conventions. EULOGY

(Dedicated to the memory of William Foster Sumner, resident of Union who was seriously wounded March 16 and died March 24.)

What cheer can ease the loss of one, Or words of sympathy convey When war takes home a loving son Beyond the vista of today? He was the flower of youth, so strong, The bravest and truest of men, There seldom appears among the throng A kinder, sincerer friend, His quality perishes not in fall Nor ends his love in the earth, But flourish and nourish the hearts of all With the wish for equal worth, Immortal truth, Eternal flame! (Call it what you will) Bear his memory of his name That his goodness endureth still And I pled on as you shall, too, Think we not that years are life, Shall any know, more dear, when we are through For what else is this life? Rear we then this monument With stones of rich ideals; Carve out the figures with sentiment That a dust of hope reveals, We'll work for this peace, for victory, And build the new tomorrow Where the nations of all the earth shall plea For justice to requite this sorrow, 'Tis then that the dead shall rest in peace, That this land who bore the light Shall know that ne'er did Freedom cease, That he led us through the night, Corp. ## Oomik Goes Warring

Perry Greene's Chinook Sent to Marine's Dog Training School

Oomik, a 14 months' old Chinook from the Perry Greene Kennels in Warren was sent recently by express to Camp Lejeune, N. C. where he will start his boot training with the U. S. Marines War Dog Training School. He will be prepared for scout duty with the USMC in the Pacific area, and is the first dog of that rare breed, originated such Wonalancet, N. H. by Arthur Walden, to be enrolled in the armed forces. The length of his training depends on the progress he makes, and his owner, from time to time, will be notified of his advances.

The trip to Camp Lejeune, N. C. will take about 72 hours, and Oomik will ride in a USMC crate, weighing 85 pounds, of plywood, with aluminum top, metal reinforced corners, barred door, of metal, the sides painted in the Marine olive green, the stenciled yellow lettering reading, "USMC, Devil's Dog," on both sides of the crate.

Oomik is the unusual color, with dark "overcoat," which sometimes appears in this breed of dog. He stands 26 inches tall at the shoulder, and weighs 81 pounds. He never has been gun shy, as are most of the other Chinooks at the kennels, and has never been used as sled dog, due to his coat, and the fact that dogs are not usually put into the team until 1½ years old. But 14 months' old dogs are considered at the very best growth for training as a war dog.

His enrollment papers carried such information as to what training he had had, his reaction to people, his physical condition, measurements, etc. It was accompanied by a photograph, also. This enrollment was made through Mrs. R. G. Hess, of Ridgewood, N. J., chairman of the Northern New Jersey Committee on "Dogs for Defense," who saw the Perry Greene exhibit of seven Chinook sled dogs at the New York Sportsmen's Show, in February. Oomik was not among these dogs, however, but Mrs. Hess became greatly interested in the breed, and contract was made with Lieut. Col. Sidney S. McMath, USMC, "Reserver for the enrollment."

Lieut. Col. McMath, in letters to the Kennels writes: "We feel sure Oomik will become an excellent War Dog, and we, in this office, shall watch his career with interest. We shall endeavor to keep you informed of his progress from time to time."

"While the Marine Corps cannot make a definite promise to return any dog to his former owner, you may rest assured that every effort is made to comply with the former owner's wishes in this respect, provided of course, the dog is physically and temperamentally suited to be returned to a civilian home."

"We appreciate this opportunity to obtain this rare breed of dog, and assure you that he will be given every opportunity to become an excellent Marine War Dog."

Among many other things, Oomik will be trained to recognize all U. S. uniforms, and to treat men thus dressed with respect, and that men in other uniforms are enemies.

Perry Greene would like Oomik back after the dog served for 1½ years in active duty, provided the dog is fit to be brought back to civilian life. If not fit in disposition, Greene thinks it only fair that he see the dog, before the animal is destroyed as is customary.

Oomik is the nephew of the famous dog Riki, lead dog of the first dog team to cross the state of Maine from Fort Kent to Kittery, a distance of 502 miles, in January 1941, driven by Perry Greene. Oomik is the descendant also of the famous Chinook breed used as sled dogs on one of Admiral Byrd's expeditions. Though bred to withstand cold, the Chinook can also automatically adapt itself to his body to withstand heat, so it is expected that Oomik will do all right in the heat of the Pacific area, when sent there.

Story Of Noah Emery

Descendants of Whom Are Numbered Among the Residents of Owl's Head

(Second Installment)

Nicholas Perryman was born in England in 1692. He emigrated to this country while quite young, shortly after the death of his parents. In 1716 he was employed as master of the Classical School in Exeter. It is not known where he received his education, but it is very apparent that it had not been neglected.

By 1727, when he was 35 years old, Mr. Perryman was fully engaged in the practice of law. He was repeatedly employed by Exeter in suits and in contested matters in the Assembly. He was also chief conveyancer for the people of Exeter. His work was neatly executed and correctly expressed.

When Noah Emery came to Exeter, Mr. Perryman was well established as a lawyer; he was married to Joanna Gilman Dudley and was the father of four children, only one of whom, a daughter, was living. Mr. Perryman saw much of merit in this young law student. He had great confidence in his legal ability and in his personal character. Before Noah Emery was 20 years old, he married on March 20, 1745, Joanna Dudley Perryman. This was an auspicious alliance for the young lawyer. Through her mother, Mrs. Emery was connected with the most important families in the community, the Gilmans and the Dudleys. In 1746 we find Noah Emery established in Exeter with his wife and baby son.

Noah of Exeter continued to study law with Mr. Perryman and then entered upon his practice. He was not wholly dependent upon his wife's family for social contacts. Two aunts, Thirzah Emery James, and Huldah Emery Bowman, were married and living in Exeter. A distant cousin, Sarah Emery Gilman, the widow of "Gentleman Nat" Gilman, was remarried to John Phillips, a man of wealth and influence in the town. A younger brother, Richard, had also come to Exeter. The next years were quiet ones. Lawyer Emery and his wife were busy rearing a family of five boys and four girls.

The amount of purely legal business at that time must have been small and "Perryman and Emery" probably engaged in trade or other sources of profit. Mr. Emery had his fair share of such professional employment as there was. The common events of the day were of personal interest to him. "Stephen Emery, Sarah Gilman Phillips' brother, had come to Exeter to teach school—the Indians had driven him from Nottingham!" "Richard Emery was a major in the militia and was engaged in the second Crown Point expedition." "Mr. Perryman was dead." "Major Richard was at Ticonderoga and the fall of Quebec. Major Richard had helped to capture Montreal."

In 1761, Lawyer Noah Emery of monad Ludwig, Gary McMillan, Horace Maxcy, John McChesney, Diane Morrison, Bessie Proctor, Percy Robinson, Raymond Upham, Mildred Young, Donna Leonard and Wayne Thompson.

Greenleaf, Eleanor Shields, Henrietta Sheffield, Virginia Frankowski, Pauline Keizer, Margaret Butler, David Maxcy, Shirley Steele, Richard Paulsen and Martha Jack. Kittery died. To his sons he bequeathed his books of law, physics, and divinity. Noah of Exeter received the copy of the "Laws of the Colony of Massachusetts" as part of his inheritance. He also received large landed estates in New Hampshire, among which were certain "Proprietor's Rights" in the town of Dartmouth, now Jefferson, New Hampshire. A few years later, in 1760, the year it was founded, he conveyed all his property by deed of gift to Dartmouth College, "in consideration of the extensive charity of the design."

"For the sons of old Dartmouth, The loyal sons of their keep, Around the world they keep for their old chivalric faith; They have the still North in their souls, The hill winds in their breath And the granite of New Hampshire Is made part of them till death."

Noah Emery was not destined for the life of a small town lawyer. His quiet days were nearing their end. Nov. 1, 1765, Rev. Daniel Rogers of Exeter wrote in his diary: "The infamous Stamp Act, abhorred by all the British colonies, took place." The fifth of that month Exeter made a display of popular feeling against the Stamp Act. Three effigies, representing the Pope, the Devil and a Stamp Master, according to Rev. Mr. Rogers, were burned to ashes. No doubt Noah Emery and his family witnessed this exhibition with delight. However, the citizens of Exeter immediately took steps to array themselves against disorder. They entered into a written agreement for mutual protection and defense which they subscribed and published. One of the 34 signatures of this agreement was Noah Emery.

Sardine Producers

Invade Washington In Half of Prices Which Will Help Industry

Maine sardine producers came to Washington this past week in full force to lay petitions before the War Food Administration and the Office of Price Administration for price relief to enable the industry to continue in operation. Ever since the war began sardines have been eagerly sought for war foods. At first the armed services called for 45% of the pack. This was three years ago. Then this was increased last year to 55% of the entire pack. Now the War Food Administration calls for 85% of the 1945 pack. The Maine sardine industry has patriotically devoted its every effort to supplying the armed services to the fullest production demands. Last year the industry packed three million cases—the largest production in history. The large run of fish and the long packing season made this possible. It is questionable whether or not this production can be equaled this year.

Practically all of the fish heretofore sold to the armed services has been sold at a price arbitrarily set by the service departments. This price did not cover fully the cost of production. The industry has gone so far it now feels that it cannot continue to accept the responsibility of carrying on at a loss. Consequently the War Food Administration and the OPA has been asked to give a new ceiling price which will permit the industry to continue to operate after June first. The case is now being considered by OPA with assurances that a price ceiling will be agreed upon and advanced to the industry within a reasonable time. Those attending the Washington hearings included: Glenn Lawrence, Belfast Packing, Belfast and Jack Knafu, Lafayette Packing Co., Rockland.

OUR HOPE

Out from the gloom of war's dark night—
Gripping the world through blighted years,
Bringing us doubt and haunting fears—
Soon shall be seen Love's kindly light.
Out from the tomb shall life once more
Wake to new beauty; terror shall pass,
God still is God: His will shall be done
Wherever shines His kindly sun.
Hatred, and strife and war shall cease—
There shall be peace!

"Soldier, sleep, thy warfare

—Sir Walter Scott.

GRIEF FOR THE DEAD

O hearts that never cease to yearn!
O brimming tears that ne'er are dried!

The dead, though they depart, return
As though they had not died!

The living are the only dead;
The dead live—nevermore to die;
And often, when we mourn them
fled,
They never were so nigh!

O why should Memory, veiled with gloom,
And like a sorrowing mourner
creped,
Sit weeping o'er an empty tomb,
Whose captives have escaped?

The joys we lose are but forecast,
And we shall find them all once more;
We look behind us for the Past,
But lo! 'Tis all before!

Through the Bible's pages, interpreted for us wisely in the Church of our faith, we reaffirm our trust in the infinite Wisdom of our Creator. We find, in the comforting lines of The Good Book, strength to go on and to carry gallantly the torch of freedom and justice in memory of beloved departed.

In compiling these Gold
Star names of boys registered in Knox County, The Courier-Gazette exercised every care possible to insure a complete, accurate list. However, if any in-advertent omission has occurred, a supplemental record will be published.

than final victory"
